

RUN ON SENTENCES

A run-on sentence consists of two sentences that have been joined incorrectly.

It's a nice day, we should play baseball.

Now you have a comma splice. Try a period.

OUT

It's a nice day. We should play baseball.

Hmm...try something that relates the

That's it!!

It's a nice day, so we should play baseball.

I like the conjunction, but can you try a semicolon?

It's a nice day; therefore, we should play baseball.

Where are you going?

It's dark out!
